

Moloka'i 2008

Join Stewart Cubley for an Awakening the Creative Intensive at the exquisite Hui Ho'olana Retreat Center on the Island of Moloka'i, Hawaii for a 7-Day retreat.

Hui Ho'olana

Hui Ho'olana Retreat Center encompasses 77 secluded acres of rain forest, orchards, and organic gardens on Hawaii's remote island of Moloka'i. You'll paint in a tranquil yurt surrounded by native Hawaiian flowers and trees. During breaks, you'll relax in the rock swimming pool, hike, snorkel, and explore the island beaches. Extraordinary meals are served by the resident professional chef.

Awakening the Creative

This program is for those who want to explore their creative process in a small group and exquisitely secluded environment. Here, everyone is a beginner; all levels of experience are welcome, even if you have never picked up a paintbrush. The goal is free-expression, with the emphasis on in-depth self-exploration leading to pivotal insight and authentic change. This 7-day retreat is an opportunity to embark on the greatest of all human journeys – embracing the vibrant, driving force of your own creative spirit and confidently following it.

This pristine setting provides the opportunity to really make a break from the pace and pressure of busy lives. The foundation of this retreat is deep relaxation and creative awakening—in the painting process, in the nurturing environment, in small group interactions and in opening to the unknown on many levels. Group size is limited to 18 maximum.

Hui Ho'olana is truly a magical experience of 'old Hawaii' that gently yet insistently quiets the heart and soothes the soul. Stewart's workshop is the only one held on the grounds during this period, and the entire staff is devoted to providing a quality experience on all levels. We feel very lucky to have the opportunity to offer this residential retreat to you, and we believe it's a perfect safe haven for the profound personal inquiry at the heart of the painting experience.
